CLOCKS ARE MOVED FORWARD TONIGHT

New Time Effective Under Daylight Saving Plan Goes Into Effect at 2 a. m.

TRAIN SCHEDULES UNCHANGED

Public Will Move Time Pieces Forward One Hour and Then Forget About the Change.

Father time with his flowing beard and his hour glass will put on an extra burst of speed early tomorrow morning. He will keep up the pace for approximately six months. The public to keep pace with is required only to follow the simple formula of pushing the hands of the clock forward one hour when he goes to bed tonight and thereby present itself with an extra hour of daylight. The change under the congressional act goes into effect at 2 a. m. Sunday morning.

Because of the experience last spring the public knows that the change can be made without inconvenience. The best rule is to move the clocks and watches forward one hour and then forget all about the change having been made. Train schedules will operate exactly as they do now and no changes in the time cards will be made. The churches tomorrow will hold their services at the usual hour which of course will be just sixty minutes earlier than a week ago. However, at 9 o'clock Sunday School will convene and at the morning church services will start at 10:30.

The National War Garden Commission which fathered the daylight saving plan, figures about 10,000,000 people will rush from the office and the shop and dig in their gardens, and this, the commission hopes, will help break all records for food f. o. b. the kitchen.

The law will be in effect for 210 days. Two hundred and ten multiplied by 10,000,000 will give a staggering number of hours to be devoted to food production.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS AWAIT COPY OF NEW LAW

No Decision Can Be Reached Officially Relative to Road Contracts Until Act Arrives.

The county commissioners are awaiting a copy of the new legislative acts so that they can decide what action is to be taken relative to the highway contracts in this township. They have been unofficially advised that the last legislature passed a law requiring commissioners to cancel highway contracts awarded before June 1, 1917, if the contractors and bondsmen so demanded. Such a law would mean that the contractors for the Jackson township roads can demand a return of the contracts and bonds.

Prior to the enactment of this law, the commissioners notified the contractors that they must appear before them April 7th, and show cause why the work on the roads should be started without further delay. The bondsmen, it is understood, have felt that they would be held responsible for the contracts and intended to throw the matter into court, in preference to assume the responsibility. The law relieves them of any liability, but the commissioners will not return the contracts and bonds until the copy of the law arrives. At the auditor's office, it was expected that the copy of the enactment would be received before April 7, when the commissioners' court convenes.

John Overman, formerly of this city, is still in army service overseas and has not returned to Mt. Vernon, Ill., as this paper stated yesterday. His father, John Overman, Sr., is living at Mt. Vernon.

A special temperance program will be given tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Park Mission Sunday School. Everyone is invited to attend.

OBJECT TO REPORT OF ADMINISTRATOR

Heirs of the Estate of the Late Orson Wray, Valued at $100,000, Bring Suit in Circuit Court.

REPORT FILED BY JAMES WRAY

Others Seeking Share Contend That Some of the Personal Property Was Sold Contrary to Law.

An action which involves the report of James Wray, administrator of the estate of the late Orson Wray, of Owen township, has been on trial in circuit court since Friday. James Wray, a son, was appointed administrator of the estate of his father, who died last October. The estate is valued at about $100,000, half of which is said to be in personal property.

The son served as administrator for several months but it is said that some of the other heirs objected to the manner in which he was handling the estate, especially the personal property. He served for several months and then resigned, filing his report as administrator with the clerk of the circuit court. The heirs who objected to the administrator's acts then filed suit to prevent the final report from being accepted. It is said that the heirs insist that some of the personal property was sold contrary to law and as a result of this the total value of the estate is reduced.

The February term of the circuit court will adjourn late this afternoon. The contest over the administrator's report has occupied the time of the court during the closing hours of the term and some business which was scheduled for today will be postponed until next term. The court term has been a busy one, a number of jury trials having been held. A large number of pleadings were also filed during the term. A feature of the term was the long investigation by the grand jury which returned forty-four indictments. Only three were arrested on bench warrants, and it is expected that others will be arrested by the sheriff on warrants as soon as the term closes.

Chauncey Hall and Claude Strange, arrested here for forgery, pleaded guilty and were sentenced to serve from one to five years in the Indiana reformatory, Jeffersonville. Carl LaRoach, alleged to be implicated in the same transaction, entered a plea of not guilty and his trial was set for the first day of the next term.

SAY BERNSTORFF ATTEMPTS TRICK

Radical Leaders in Germany Say He Hopes to Win A Diplomatic Victory.

By United Press.

Berlin, March 29.—Radical leaders declared today that bolshevism in Germany is a trick by which Foreign Minister Brockdorff and Count Bernstorff hope to score a diplomatic victory, in spite of military defeat. According to the radicals, the threat to refuse the peace terms and throw Germany into bolshevism in an effort to impress the peace conference with the seriousness of the situation here. It is charged that the German foreign office hope this may lead to a split between the allied nations regarding the procedure if the Germans refuse to sign the pact. Certain entente nations, it is claimed, will oppose continuing the blockade of Germany, fearing the spread of bolshevism, while others probably will insist upon enforcing conditions demanded of the Germans.

The most sincere opponents of bolshevism as well as the in-

COUNCIL TAKES UP POLISH SITUATION

Becomes Highly Important Because of Germany's Attitude Towards Danzig.

FIRM PRESSURE NEEDED

Bolshevik Continues to Form Principal Subject of Discussion Among Delegates.

By United Press.

Paris, March 29.—The Polish situation which has become highly important through Germany's apparent defiance regarding Danzig, was to be discussed by the allied leaders today. Information has been received by the French government that following Germany's refusal to allow Polish divisions from France to land at Danzig, the Germans have begun to move new troops and heavy guns into that region. It was believed the peace delegates feel that the situation demands immediate and firm pressure be brought to bear on the Germans.

The "big four" and the foreign ministers in their present conferences, are covering the vast territory extending from the Rhine to the Vistula and from the Adriatic to the Baltic, it was learned today. In addition there is the ever-present question of re-patriation.

The bolsheviks however, continue to form the principal subject for informal discussion among the delegates. A military policy regarding the bolsheviks apparently is taking more definite form, and the summoning of General Mangin to Paris is regarded as significant, in connection with plans advanced by the French. These plans anticipate establishment of a firm line from the Black Sea to the Baltic to hold back the tide of bolshevism. Whether such a plan will remain on the defensive or would assume the offensive as the best means of defense, naturally is problematical.

It is now revealed that William Bullitt, special investigator for the American delegation, saw Premier Lenin while in Petrograd. When his report is made public it is expected to reveal much interesting information covering points that hitherto have been hazy.

The peace conference has begun to consider in an informal way what the allies will do in case Germany refuses to sign the forthcoming treaty, but no definite decision has been reached.

REORGANIZATION PLANS FOR ARMY

Provides for Five Corps of Twenty-one Divisions, or a Total of 500,000 Men.

MARCH MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

Recruiting Campaign Results in 2,789 Men Who Enlisted in Various Camps.

By United Press.

Washington, March 29.—Plans for the re-organization of the American army into a force of 500,000 men—five corps with a total of twenty-one divisions—have been completed, Chief of Staff March announced today. In forming these divisions men will be drawn from the twenty-one divisions existing, and the present divisions will be used, but an entirely new personnel will be permitted. This army is being formed under authority granted by congress.

In the new recruiting campaign first announced several weeks ago, 2,789 men have enlisted at the various recruiting offices located at camps, March disclosed. These have been about evenly divided among one and three year enlistments, he said. Organization of this "mobile army" was at President Wilson's direction, the war department stated.

The numerical designation of various divisions which have served in the war have been maintained in the new army, largely for historical and sentimental reasons. Announcement was made that the war department had approved a call for 50,000 volunteers to be enlisted for a three-year term on a definite promise of foreign service. March denies specially that it was planned to use these troops to combat bolsheviks. They will be concentrated at Camp Meade and central Europe in lots of approximately 1,000 to be turned over to the commanders there.

Volunteers desiring service in Siberia, Italy and other foreign countries, will be assigned to those places March said. Orders have been issued, March said, that returning soldiers should be demobilized not later than forty-eight hours after their arrival in camp.

Internal conditions in Europe have caused no change in plans for returning troops to America so far as the war department here has been advised, March said. It was his understanding, he said, that troops now in Italy are being concentrated in Genoa, for return.

GARDENS INTERFERE WITH FREEDOM OF CITY DOGS

Ordinance Requiring Canines to Stay at Home During Summer Goes Into Effect April 1.

The average dog in Seymour is not enthusiastic about gardens and flowers. The reason for his antagonism to productive garden plots and beautiful flowers is that he is required to stay at home as long as they are growing. An ordinance was passed by the city council last spring which fixes a penalty for any dog owner who permits his dog to roam the streets between the first day of April and the last day of August.

Chief of Police Abell gives official notice today that the ordinance will be in force and effect next Tuesday and cautions owners to keep their dogs at home. The council takes the position that if a dog must tear up a garden or a flower bed he must take such exercises on the premises of his owner. The ordinance will be enforced the chief of police states in his notice.

FOR OLD CLOTHES

problems confronting millions of men, women and children in northern France, Italy, Czecho-Slovakia, Belgium, Serbia, Roumania, Greece and other allied countries in the near east is that of clothing. In many places the Germans ruined the textile industries, making it impossible for the people to help themselves, even if they had raw materials. Accordingly, they must look to the outside world, and principally America, for assistance. The report of fifty American Red Cross investigators in France said that the need of clothing among hundreds of thousands of refugees in France alone is more imperative even than food. The distribution of the clothing will be under American supervision. The American Red Cross commission will supervise it in those countries where it is at work and in those places where it has no organization, Mr. Hoover's food representatives will take charge. Every kind of garment, for all ages and both sexes, except those obviously unfitted for the use of refugees, will be acceptable. In addition, piece goods, light, warm cotton flannel and other kinds of cloth from which to make garments for babies, ticking, sheeting and blankets, woolen goods of any kind and shoes of every size are needed. Scrap leather is acceptable. Since the clothes will be subjected to the hardest kind of wear, only garments of strong and durable materials will be collected. ### RECITAL

The recital given at the Central Christian Church Friday evening by Frank C. Biddle, basso-cantante, and J. Earl Weatherford, tenor, under the auspices of the Loyal Devoir Society was heard by a large and appreciative audience. Especial interest was attached to the recital as the artists have appeared in this city before and their friends knew what a program of unusual interest would be presented.

The program was well balanced and displayed the versatility of the artists. It consisted of both vocal and instrumental numbers. The two artists have voices of exceptional quality which show both naive ability and training. The audience enthusiastically received the vocal selections and the duets in which the voices of the artists blended exceptionally well were followed by a genuine encore of appreciation. Among the encores introduced were "Dear Old Pal of Mine," and other well known selections. The organ selections by Mr. Weatherford and the violin numbers by Mr. Biddle were special features of the delightful program.

Mr. Weatherford and Mr. Biddle were introduced by the Rev. W. E. Carroll, pastor of the Central Christian church. The program which was highly commended by the music lovers of Seymour is generally regarded as one of the best that has been presented here in recent years. ## HORSE AND BUGGY ARE STOLEN AT NORTH VERNON

Local Police Asked To Assist in Locating Rig—One Man is Questioned Here.

Thursday night the local police were notified by the North Vernon police chief that a horse and buggy had been stolen in that city. Considerable information was given in regard to the description of both horse and buggy. Livery stable men in this city were notified to call the police any time their suspicions were aroused by anyone driving into the barns.

Late Friday afternoon a call came from Hopewell's stables on Tipton street stating that a horse and buggy bearing the distinguishing marks given by the North Vernon police had been driven into the barn there and that the driver, a young man presumably twenty years old, stated he had come from North Vernon. It was also said that he inquired if he could take the horse out of the stable any time at night and upon receiving an answer to the affirmative fed the horse from a supply of corn which he took from the buggy and then left the stables. Later he returned to see whether the horse had eaten or not and finding him still nibbling at his corn returned to the business district of the city.

When the police arrived at the livery barn they found the horse and buggy tallied identically with that of the rig stolen Thursday night. Furthermore the horse showed signs of hard driving and the buggy was splattered with mud. Close survey found a knot on the fore leg of the horse, a mark that had not been given in the description.

Chief Abell and three men started in search of the driver, a young man living eight miles from the city with whom both the stable men and the police are acquainted. He was found about 6 o'clock at the intersection of Second and Chestnut streets. At the approach of the police he showed a disposition to change his location but Chief Abell accosted him before he left the corner. In the inquisitorial that followed the young man denied having told the livery stable man he came from North Vernon. He declared that the horse and buggy were his own property and that he had just driven into town from his home. When asked why he wanted to know if he could get the horse out of the stable at any time in the night he replied that he did not know just when he would want to return home but that when he did get ready he would probably desire the services of his horse as he lived over eight miles from Seymour.

The young man called another boy of his own age and an older man both of whom are known to be neighbors of his parents, to show that the outfit was his. The boy told the police that the young man had owned a horse and buggy for a number of years and upon request gave the police a complete description of the horse and buggy including the knot on the horse's fore leg which it is stated was caused by the kick of another horse when the one in question was a colt. On this evidence the young man was allowed to retain his liberty but a call was immediately sent to North Vernon police in regard to the knot on the horse's leg. Inquiry is being made there from the owner and the local police are awaiting word from them before definite action is taken. Chief Abell states that if the owners there affirm the presence of the blemish on the animal's fore leg it will lead to the immediate arrest of the young driver, who is reported to have returned to the home of his parents.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE LEAGUE IN SESSION AT ST. LOUIS

Women's Voters League May Be Formed at the First Session of Convention.

By United Press
St. Louis, Mo., March 29.—The National American woman suffrage association today opened what probably will be the final session of its convention life.

Transfusion of its lifeblood into the women voters league will be complete before the day set for the next annual convention national leaders predicted today.

The national association today was still jubilant over its latest victory—presidential suffrage for Missouri women.

Convention sessions last night were in the form of a mass meeting of celebrants. Expectation of obtaining passage of the federal amendment at the next session of congress was increased by the action of Missouri senate.

dependent socialists demand that a group of real pacifists be sent to Paris in place of the commission already announced to deal openly with the allies in an effort to establish Germany's future relations with the world honestly.

A supposedly secret organization of officers and soldiers of the old regime is being watched apprehensively by the radical elements who claim it is the beginning of a reactionary movement. Participation of General Ludendorff in recent street demonstrations during which he was loudly cheered by the crowd worries the pacifists who also are concerned at the rapid enlistment in the new military unit under old leaders.

Officers assure the correspondent these are merely efforts to prepare for the struggle with Bolshevism. The militarists claim their new organization is not political, though they admit they will demand that the government swing toward reaction in case there is another uprising of the radicals.

Laborites in the Rhineland are now threatening to demand a 25 per cent. wage increase and a six hour day. Spartacans are seizing the opportunity to prepare for a general political strike which they declare will result in communization of Dusseldorf and other industrial centers.

Pee-Gee Flatkoatt

The Modern Finish for Walls and Ceilings

Great changes have taken place in recent years as to the interior decoration of Walls and Ceilings. Color, Harmony, Simplicity and Sanitation, are demanded. Antiquated wall paper and other dust and germ catching material have been successfully replaced by PEE-GEE FLATKOATT, the modern economical, sanitary, washable Flat Oil Finish. It is soft and velvety in appearance and affords every possible color combination.

It is more artistic, durable and economical than any other decorative material. When soiled, it can be easily cleaned, thus saving the expense and inconvenience of frequent redecorating. This feature alone is one of the greatest advantages over wall paper, kalsomine, etc., and for this reason PEE-GEE FLATKOATT is extensively used in public and private buildings.

"Tuning Up" The Motor

YOU have noticed, of course, that there is a big difference in the way that automobiles run. Some of them get over the ground, but the motor "misses" and the power is unsteady and jerky. The driver never knows just how his car is going to behave.

Then there are other cars that fairly "skim" over the roads with the soft, purring of the motor. You have noticed that such cars respond promptly and easily to the touch of the driver. There is always plenty of power for speed and hills.

The difference in the machines is the way they are adjusted.

Our mechanical experts know just what your car needs so that it will run with the responsive, purring sound.

Mr. A. H. Wagner, who served the government as a motor expert during the war, is at the head of our mechanical department. He has a personal knowledge of all makes of cars and can tell you just what is wrong with your machine.

On March 24 we will have two new mechanics so that your work can be done promptly. Bring your cars around and let us inspect them for you.

Do We Want Prosperity?

"Do we want prosperity?" asks H. H. Windsor in editorial in Popular Mechanics for April. "The reply seems to be unanimous," he goes on to say. "Here is one subject on which we are all agreed; employer, employee; man, woman, and child. World conditions are, to all appearances, more favorable to a most wonderful period of prosperity for the United States, for several years to come, than ever confronted any nation in the history of the world. But, we mustn't spill the beans! Bankers, alone; manufacturers, alone; labor, alone; nor farmers, nor miners, nor lumbermen, and so on, alone, not even the Government alone, can make prosperity. To insure prosperity, there must be harmonious team work; everyone concerned must do his part." Other timely editorials are "The Seattle Strike," "I. W. W. and Bolsheviki," "A Real Mayor," "Have a Motive," and "Keep on Saving."

Troop 1 Adds Another Victory.

Friday night the Troop 1 basketball team scored another game on their list of victories by a score of 36 to 6. The team has lost only one game this year. Last evening they played an Independent team with Francis Misch captain.

The line-up was as follows:

Scouts Independents
Deal, f Able, f
Amick, f Julian f
Davis, e Misch, e
Fenton, g Gottberg, g
Smith, g Hamilton, g
Scharfenberg substituted in place of Deal and Deal in place of Davis.

The highest score was Deal who made eleven field goals. Deal is now a star player and it is prophesied that he will be a second Gearhart on Seymour's next year varsity. He is getting all of Gearhart's tricks and a few original ones "down pat." Amick also played a swift game, playing the floor like a "wildman" and going over his usual record for swiftness. The game was a fairly clean one and few fouls were called upon either side. The Scout team has a good record for playing clean and always tries to live up to it.

The Independent team also played a fast game, only they left their "horseshoe" at home and could not hit the basket.

A curtain raiser was played between the Scout third team and the Christian church second team. It was a fast, clean game. The Christian team had the advantage in weight but practice is what counts and the third team had practiced and made a good score of 12-9.

The line-up was as follows:

3rd Scouts 2nd Christians
Scharfer, f Seward, f
Misamore, f Keach, f
Hannauer, c Hamilton, c
Miller, g Wilson, g
Shafer, g Daugherty, g

Hamilton of the 2nd Christian team, who also played on the Independent team, made eight points and played a good game. The highest Scout score was Misamore, who is showing up fine in basketball and also baseball which will soon be starting.

The Christian seconds held the Scout third team down the first half, but the last half they just began to get "warmed up" and were three points ahead, just as the whistle blew time out.

More Troops.

More troops is the urgent cry of all Scoutmasters, Scout officials and the President of the United States. The President realizes the work of the Boy Scouts in the recent war and that boys who have been Scouts made even better soldiers than those who had seen service in Cuba, Philippines and Mexico. He therefore has helped in as many ways as possible to promote the movement. If the mothers and fathers of the boys of America knew what good comes from this organization they would not laugh at it as a "bunch of sissies," excuse the expression, but it is true, many people have and will call the Boy Scouts that not because they are not courageous, but that they are never willing to "pick a fight."

In a town of this size we should have at least ten troops. There are boys, who, if they were under the right influences, as the Boy Scout organization has, would become strong minded men and fitted to make this city better than ever before in the next few years.

There are at present two troops organized: Troop 1, Rev. J. H. More, scoutmaster; Troop 2, Rev. F. A. Hayward, scoutmaster. There are three now being organized one from the Christian church, another from the Trinity Methodists and another from the Park Mission. Each church should have under its care at least two troops and some three. Therefore you should take heed to this and find some chance to help this movement.

Baseball.

Baseball season is coming nearer each day and our arms just ache to throw a ball and here the zing of a ball leaving the bat and flying into left field as you run for first.

The Scouts of troop 1 will organize a team this summer and have high hopes of making a record as good as that in basketball. In the troop there is fine material for America's greatest game and as our Scoutmaster played against professional teams in practice games we will have a fine coach and a very promising season.

Troop 2 Entertains Parents.

Troop No. 2 entertained their parents and friends at the First Baptist church Friday evening. About fifty-five were present to enjoy the hospitality of the Scouts. The bird house contest closed and the judges awarded the prizes as follows: 1st George Bryan; 2d Ernest Blevins; 3d Charles Ross, Robert Kasting; 4th, Donald Ross. An outline of the Boy Scout movement was given by Scoutmaster, F. A. Hayward; What a tenderfoot should know, Chas. Ross; what a second class scout should know, Henry Abbe; what a first class scout should know, Francis Geile. In addition the following program was given by the Scouts:

Piano Solo, Howard Ross
Reading, James Black
Duet, Leland and Donald Ross.
Violin Solo, Benjamin Yount,
Signalling, Henry Abbe.

CAPT. KIMBER WAS READY TO DIE OF CONSUMPTION

Doctors Told Him So, but He Is Gaining Strength and Health —Tells How.

"My case of tuberculosis was an advanced one, of over five years' standing. Was in a tuberculosis hospital for over a year and returned home worse than when I went. I had to give up a good position in New York City and move up into the Catskill mountains on the advice of my physician.

"The doctors said I was ready to die a year ago. I was so weak I could hardly stand up.

"I began taking Milks Emulsion last October. I have now taken 18 large bottles and my gain in health and strength has been very steady. I am now able to walk to the village three miles and back, and chop a little wood every day.

"I used to fill a sputum box once a day and my cough was continual. Now I do not raise enough to fill a sputum box in a week. I do not get up in the morning.

"When I first began taking Milks Emulsion, and for some time after that, I couldn't take a deep breath without coughing. Now I can take in draughts of fresh air without any of the previous irritation. I had six hemorrhages prior to last October, but since taking Milks Emulsion I have not spit up a bit of blood and have been practically free from temperature.

"I have been treated by thirteen different doctors and had spent all my money trying to find a cure. The doctors all told me that there was no medicine that could do this, so I was very skeptical about trying even the first bottle of Milks Emulsion. But I was persuaded to do so by a nurse who told me of two positive cures it had effected in her own family.

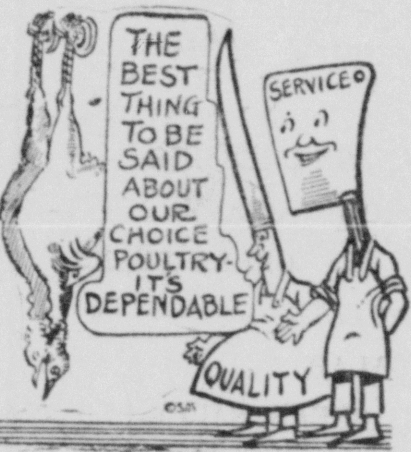

"Thank God, I tried it. I began to feel a beneficial effect only ten hours after I started taking it. I am continuing its use, feeling pretty sure it will effect a cure in my case, as I am steadily improving. The advanced stage of my disease had arrived before I heard of Milks Emulsion, and this is making my recovery slower, than if I had started taking it a few years sooner."—Capt. Frederick E. Kimber, Dunton Lodge, Cairo, N. Y.

Capt. Kimber wrote this letter August 1, 1918. His constant gain in strength and health through this wonderful food medicine has been duplicated in hundreds of other advanced cases. Under the maker's guarantee, every sufferer is welcome to try it without risking a cent.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physies. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion. Consider this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milk Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by C. E. Loerts

Dependable food stuffs are the foundation of our success in the meat business. Our choice, tender meats form the foundation of hundreds of pleasing meals in this town every day. Suppose you come in and get acquainted with our excellent stock of goods.

The River

When the Colorado
Burst Its Banks and Flooded the Imperial Valley of California

By

EDNAH AIKEN

CHAPTER XXVI.

Time the Umpire.

The river was low; its yellow waters bore the look of oriental duplicity. Each day was now showing its progress. The two ends of the trestle were creeping across the stream from their brush aprons. A few weeks of work, at the present rate, and the gap would be closed, Hardin's big gate in it; the by-pass ready; the trap set for the Colorado. The tensely of a last spurt was in the air.

It was inspiring activity, this pitting of man's cumulative skill against an elemental force. No Caucasian mind which did not tingle, feel the privileged thrill of it. To the stolid native this day of well-paid toil was his millennium, the fulfillment of the prophecy. His gods had so spoken. Food for his stomach, liquor for his stupefaction; the white man's money laid in a brown hand each Sunday morning was what the great gods foretold. The completion of the work, the white man's victory, would be an end of the fat time. Hasten? Why should they, and shorten their day of opportunity?

Between the two camps oscillated Colonel, silently squatting near the whites, jabbering his primitive Esperanto to the tribes. His friendship with the white chiefs, his age and natural leadership gave him a unique position in both camps. Assiduously, Rickard cultivated the old Indian who crouched days through by the bank of the river.

The engineers felt the whip of excitement. Never a man left the camp in the morning who did not look toward that span crawling across the treacherous stream, measure that widened by-pass. Would the gate stand? The Hardin men hallooed for the gate, but looked each morning to see if it were still there. The Reclamation Service men and the engineers of the railroad were openly skeptical; Sisyphus outdone at his own game! Estrada and Rickard looked furtively at the gate, with doubt at each other.

Hardin, himself, was repressed, an eager live wire. His days he spent on the river; his nights, long hours of them, open-eyed, on his back, watching the slow-wheeling, star-pricked dome of desert sky. His was the suspense of the man on trial; this was his trial; Gerty, Rickard, the valley, his judge and jury. The gate grew to be a symbol with him of restored honor, an obsession of desire. It must be all right!

Rickard was all over the place. "Watching every piece of rock that's dumped in the river," complained Wooster. "Believe he marks them at night!"

They were preparing for the final rush. In a week or two, the work would be continuous, night shifts to begin when the rock-pouring commenced. Large lamps were being suspended across the channel, acetylene whose candlepower was that of an arc light. Soon there would be no night at the break. When the time for the quick coup would come, the dam must be closed without break or slip. One mat was down, dropped on the floor that had already swallowed two such gigantic mouthfuls; covered with rock; plinned down to the slippery bottom with piles. Another mat was ready to drop; rock was waiting to be poured over it; the deepest place in the channel was reduced from fifteen to seven feet. Each day the overpour, anxiously measured, increased. A third steam shovel had been added; the railroad sent in several work trains fully equipped for service; attracted by the excitement, the hoboes were commencing to come in.

It was a battle of big numbers, a duel of great force where time was the umpire. Any minute not weather might fall on those snowy peaks up yonder, and the released waters, rushing down, would tear out the defenses as a wave breaks over a child's fort made of sand. This was a race, and all knew it. A regular train dispatch system was in force that the intruding cars might drop their burden of rock and gravel and be off after more. The Dragon was being fed rude meals, its appetite whetted by the glut of pouring rock.

Tod Marshall came down from Tucson in his car. The coming of the Palmyra and Claudia rippled the social waters at the front for days ahead. Gerty Hardin, too proud to tell her astonished family that she wanted to desert the mess tent, shook herself from her injury, and "did up" all her lingerie gowns. Mrs. Marshall was not going to patronize her, even if her husband had snubbed Tom. It was hot, ironing in her tent, the doors closed. Everything carried a sting those indoor hours. She was aflame with hot vanity. Twice, she had openly encouraged Rickard; twice, he had flouted her. That was his kind! Men who prefer Mexicans—! She would never forgive him, never!

She followed devious channels to involve Tom's responsibility. There was a cabal against the wife of Hardin. Working like a servant! she called it necessity. Everything, every one punished her for that one act of folly. Life had caught her. She saw no way, as she ironed her mull ruffles, no way out of her cage. Her spirit beat wild wings against her bars. If she could see a way out! Nothing to do but to stay with Tom!

Maddening, too, that at the mess table, she caught Rickard's eyes turning toward, resting on, Innes Hardin. The girl herself did not seem to notice—artful, subterranean, such stalking! That was why she had come running back to the Hending! That the reason of her anger when she had hinted of the Maldonado. She learned to hate Innes. Bitterly she hated Rickard.

"Tom," she said one day. He turned with a swift thrill of expectation, for her voice sounded kind; like the Gerty of old. "I have always heard that Mr. Marshall has terribly strict ideas. I think he ought to hear of that Mexican woman. It is demoralizing in a camp like this."

"I tell Marshall anything against his pet clerk?" The Hardin lip shot out. "He'd throw me out of the company."

The pretty scene was spoiled. To his dismay, she burst into a storm of tears, tears of self-pity. Her life lay in tatters at her feet, the pretty fabric rent, torn between the rude handling of those two men. She could not have reasoned out her injury, made it convincing, built out of dreams as it was, heartless, scheming dreams. Because she could not tell it, her sobbing was the more violent, her complaints incoherent. Tom gathered enough fragments to piece the old story. "Ashamed of him. He had dragged her down into his humiliation." His sweet moment had passed.

He spent a few futile moments trying to comfort her.

"Don't come near me." It burst from her; a cry of revulsion. He stared at her, the woman meeting his eyes in flushed defiance. The hatred which he saw, her bitterness, corroded his pride, scorched his self-love. Nothing would kill his love for her; he knew that in that blackest of moments. He would never forget that look of dread, of hate. He left her tent.

That night, the cot under the stars had no tenant. Hardin had it out with himself down the levee.

That valley might fulfill Estrada's vision and his labor; might yield the harvest of happy homes; but his was not there. He had been the sacrifice.

Sergeant John DeMatteo returned today to Camp Taylor after spending a several days' furlough in this city.

Partial Shade for Berries.

Currents and gooseberries commonly do better if grown where there is partial shade. This sometimes can be provided by planting them between fruit trees. Raspberries and blackberries are sometimes planted between trees, but the practice is not advisable unless the soil is naturally moist and fertile.

Horace Bunton, of Redding township, transacted business in town today.
